PRESENTATION

The International Fair of Luanda and Eventos Arena present the 11th Edition of Projekta, which will take place from 24th to 27th October 2013, at FILDA facilities in Luanda.

The building sector currently provides an important contribution to the economy, having steadily increased in GDP from 3,5% in 2003 to 8,9% in 2012. The enormous investments in the rehabilitation of roads, railways, ports and airports are transforming the infrastructures of the country and creating a positive effect in the productivity of the private sector.⁽¹⁾

The Projekta organization has accompanied this contribution and adapted its offer to the current trends of the sector. With a solid growth it is today the biggest fair of the Construction sector, as well as Public Works, Urbanism and Architecture, held in Angola and the main space for the implementation of sustainable partnerships and business development and one of the most important fairs of the country.

The evaluation has been positive and exponential. The exhibitor's satisfaction as to business prospects resulting from their participation in the fair is growing.

The opening of the fair to architecture, urbanism and planning has been following the trend of the sector's development, mirroring the modernization and development of a business setting increasingly efficient and competitive.

Internationalization

The fast economic growth of Angola has not gone unnoticed; lately several countries from Africa to Europe and to Latin America have expanded their commercial relationships with Angola.

The commitment to internationalization of Projekta has been a priority for the organization and the results are positive. In its latest edition, Projekta had the official participation of national pavilions of South Africa, Brazil, Portugal, Turkey and Italy and of individual companies from Germany, China, Egypt, Spain, USA, France and the UK.
